

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method of cleaning white garments comprises the steps of forming a 10% thoroughly 5 mixed aqueous solution containing a detergent, a bleaching agent and an enzyme agent; the detergent is a mixture of sodium citrate, sodium silicate, sodium carbonate, sodium sulfate and a surfactant, the bleaching agent including a mixture of hypochlorite, sodium chloride and sodium hydroxide, and the enzyme agent including sodium perborate monohydrate, STPP, magnesium sulfate and sodium sulfate and agitating the garments in the aqueous 10 solution for not more than one minute and soaking the garments in clear water for between one and ten hours.